

10 WAYS TO Maximize Your Milkshake

Find new barrels and get them out now. Maximize profits and attract investor capital through asset organization and engineering-based analytics.

GET ORGANIZED

What do you own?

Create a master inventory of land, current wells, and future opportunities complete with important header information and well attributes. Whether you're selling or optimizing, an organized asset is a more valuable asset.

ALL ABOUT THAT BASE

Are your existing wells performing optimally?

Get those barrels out now by monitoring individual well performance and addressing wells that are underperforming expectations. Consider daily monitoring with programs such as Spotfire.

LOCK IT IN

Are you securing your cash flow?

The financial sector has emerged with many customizable solutions. Consider volume production payments, hedges, or other instruments to lock in some long-term pricing.

DIG INTO THE LOS

Do your actuals compare to your expectations?

Many times, we find our customers are overcharged and underpaid when compared to contractual terms. A revenue & expenses audit can make all the difference.

DIVEST

Ready to walk away in a high price environment?

If you're willing to exit at a stabilized price, there are deals to be made. Prepare your package for a data room by presenting organized assets that highlight your upside.

ACQUIRE ASSETS

What's your growth plan?

If you're planning to grow through acquisition, read our eBook, The Confident Bid Recipe, and navigate the data room with confidence.

GRAB THE LOW-HANGING FRUIT

Sitting on some behind pipe?

Identify and value rank these opportunities and get them scheduled. Also consider returning shut-in wells to production. If not now, then when?

DRILL. BABY. DRILL.

Are you looking to bring on new development?

Strategically design your pad for the current environment by adding reserves for maximum return on investor capital. Consider a regional study to optimize well spacing and completion design.

PREPARE FOR BOTTLENECKS

Are you looking ahead for potential threats?

Processing, transportation, and labor are potentially restricting growth for your company. Plan and secure these crews and capacity asap.

FIELD STUDIES

Is your asset producing all it can?

Identify new zones, geologic complexities, and opportunities to implement or enhance EOR with a geologic study.
